MANY WARRANTS

To be Berved on Account of the Benwood Cutting Affray.

THE THEORY OF SELF-DEFENSE

Raised by Hammond, Who Stabbed Matthews, and He Will Likely Prosecute His Alleged Assailants A Complicated Affair Throughout, It is Thought Matthews May Re-

The Benwood cutting affray, particu-lars of which were given in yesterday's Intelligencer, will be given an extensive several warrants sworn out will be served to-day. No time has been set for the trials by Squira Riddia. for the trials by Squire Riddle, who has the matter in charge, nor will be until the condition of "Press" Matthews sa-sumes definite form.

The man who did the cutting, G. W. Hammond, is now confined in the Benwood lock-up, and his injuries were at-tended to yesterday by Dr. Alley. Both his eyes are blackened, his head is cut and bruised, and he is bruised about the body. He gives the appearence of having been used as a football. According to his story, he stabbed Mat-thews in self-defense, and he claims he was attacked by half a dozen men, near the Boggs run bridge, who followed him with the intention of "doing him up."

Hammond is known as "a river rat." He was visiting relatives out Boggs' run, and on Monday night was with his nephew, Theodore Miner, at a liquid fireworks celebration in North Benwood. He says an altercation aross there and that he and his nephew ran away towards Boggs' run, owing to threats made by the party of men, of whom Matthews was one. His nephew was too first-footed and eluded the pur-suers, but Hammond was caught up with and the assault began, whereupon he used a pen knife. Matthews claims that Hammond stole a hat and that the theft was the cause of his flight and the subsequent battle.

The wound received by Matthews is not expected to prove fatal. The knife entered his abdomen under his left ribs, and his intestines were protruding when he was removed to the City hos pital. The necessary attention was given by Drs. Meighen, Schwinn and Armbrecht. Owing to the affair pre-senting so many complicated phases, Squire Riddle yesterday conferred with Prosecuting Attorney T. J. Parsons, at Moundsville, as to how he should proceed in the case. There will be a dozen or more warrants made out, embracing all the parties known to have been interested.

Matthews suffered considerable pain yesterday and vomited frequently, but it was stated at the hospital that while his condition would remain critical for some days that there was no indication of his wound having a fatal termina-tion, unless unforeseen developments should occur.

A POPULAR MOVE

Is that of the Postoffice Department in Making More Convenient to the Public the Advantages of the Registered Letter Service.

At a number of the more important first class postoffices of the country, including Wheeling, the postoffice depart-ment has arranged to bring into touch with the public the conveniences of the registered letter service. Commencing Thursday morning, the registration of letters by carriers while on their routes will be inaugurated, thus avoiding the necessity of patrons going to the-post-office to send money or letters of value through the mails. During the past week the carriers have been put through a course of instruction, famil-iarizing them with their new duty. The new service will not include business and professional people, but is intended as a convenience for families, especially those who find it inconvenient to go to the postoffice.

Cards bearing the following information will be given in cases of failure to fulfil the requirements of the new regisered letter service:

On the C. & P. South of Bellaire-Edward Marling the Victim.

Edward Marling, a fireman on Cleveland & Pittsburgh switching train, was instantly killed at the coal tipple, about one mile south of Bellaire, last evening at 6:45 o'clock. He had climbed on a box car of a moving train, but evidently forgot the proximity of the coal tipple, which struck him in the head, and he fell from the car to the ground lifeless.
